Hello there,

We have been thinking of you all week, and we are so glad to write to you today! We hope you have had a wonderful week so far. We wish you all the best in this new month 💙

We have some amazing updates for you this week. Check them out!!

We Started the Month With a Media Parley!

To further amplify the LSETF story, increase awareness of our programmes and build strategic relationships with the media, we held a Media Parley on the 1st of June 2022. In attendance were LSETF personnel, media organisations and media personalities.

At the event, we acquainted the media representatives with the LSETF journey, our initiatives, partnerships and impact stories. We also had a Q&A session where we answered questions from the media representatives, broadening their understanding of the work we do.

We are incredibly grateful to all the media organisations and personalities for honouring our invitation and sharing valuable contributions.

We are confident that positive results will emerge from our existing and newly formed partnerships with the media.

Here are some image highlights from the event:

Learn Your Way into a Successful Tech Career!

Have you heard about the Lagos Innovates Talent Development Programme? It's a student loan program that enables you to upskill without stressing over the cost implications. The programme funds up to 80% of the cost of program attendance! (Yes, you read that right)

If you have hit a brick wall on your learning journey due to limited funds, this programme is just what you need! We have partnered with recognised training organisations such as Univelcity, SlateCube, Torilo and more, to help you access courses such as Full-Stack Web Development, Front-End Design and Engineering, Data Analytics, Data Analysis and more!

You Are Invited to the Google Shopping Small Business Summit!

Open your calendar app and block out the 21st of June for the Google Shopping Small Business Summit! Why? Because this one-hour livestream session is designed to help you learn from a wide range of partners in the Small and Midsize Business (SMB) ecosystem. At the session, you will have the opportunity to understand some e-commerce trends on the continent, learn about Google's support for small businesses and how your business can benefit from building a strong e-commerce presence. Don't miss it!
